Technology Transfer, Innovation, Corporate Law

Legal advice on Technology Transfer, Innovation and Corporate Regulation.

· Technology Transfer.

Technology transfer requires new forms of contracts, adapted to new times and digital formats, as well as an understanding of the sector responsible for generating new knowledge, results and technologies. We create, draft and analyze the appropriate instruments for our clients to protect their intangible assets, information, databases, trade secrets and to acquire or transfer technology and know-how in its various forms.

· Innovation

The current ecosystem of science, technology, knowledge and innovation has become an element that generates the well-being and development of nations. In this sense, it is essential to know and control the processes and actions generated in this context. Our firm is able to provide comprehensive advice on the proper development of the various actors involved in this ecosystem, providing the necessary legal support to achieve the objectives and generate results in the innovation process.

· Corporate Law.

Businesses are the economic actors called upon to produce the products and services needed to satisfy needs. In fulfilling this mission, they are faced with increasingly complex regulatory regimes. Our team provides comprehensive advice to companies, both SMEs and large corporations, to prevent, resolve and mitigate breaches or non-compliance in the development of their business, collaborating in the management of their commercial and financial operations, corporate governance and asset structure, and labour relations.
